Excerpt: .for the cultivation of the virtue of philanthropy. Witness the evidences of interest of the whole world in the sufferers in Belgium, in Poland and other parts of the devastated continent. Never in its history has the world witnessed such evidences of philanthropy as have been revealed by the conflagration kindled by hate upon the battlefields of Europe. It is perhaps given to few men to be able to include all men in their sympathies. But as the race develops the number of these will become larger and after awhile they will be so numerous that war will no longer be possible, and then will triumph that era of peace and goodwill to men, about which the angels sang in far off Gallilee, on that natal day of the Prince of Peace. Thus far we have discussed only one of the two general types...
