E Miles, Chairman, at the Twenty-First Annual Convention of the National Association of Manufacturers, New York City, May 15, 1916 What you would find in a people, yon must first put into its schools. - Humboldt. The nation that has the schools has the trade. - Bismarck. When asked, 3,000 years ago, What shall we teach the youth? a Spartan king replied, Teach them what they will do when they are men. The school year just ending has been fraught with much of interest in the furtherance of vocational education. Widespread consideration has developed a common judgment. No longer is there fear that these schools, under public and practical direction, will be inconsiderate of spiritual values. A mechanic will not be injured spiritually or socially by training that makes him a better mechanic. He might be injured in many ways by vocational training that failed to meet his occupational needs. The members of a vocational school board need not be any less cultural, patriotic or...
