Do I habitually do things which I would not want my parents to do, or to know of my doing? 2. When an attractive opportunity to do wrong arises, do I have to think it over and decide, or do I instinctively and almost automatically do what is right? 3. Is ray life, both public and private, a good example for my pupils? 4. Am I more concerned about what I do, or about what my friends know of my doing? 5. Do I rise above the drudgery and irritating incidents of my work? 6. Do I know myself? Do I take advantage of my strong points and guard myself against my weaknesses? 7. Am I fearless or merely foolhardy? 8. Am I controlled more by the forces within me, or by the forces without? 9. Do I adhere to the right and spurn the wrong without regard to the person involved? 10. Am I willing to be true at the expense of popularity? 11. In the last analysis,...
